FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: December 12th, 2012

West Lebanon, NH

From The Pro-Cut Service Department

It has come to our attention that at least one cutting tip manufacturer is falsely representing themselves as being affiliated with Pro-Cut International. In most cases a representative will call implying s/he is from Pro-Cut and ask how the lathe is working. If there are issues, the caller will offer to send in a rep, though NO REP WILL BE SENT. The caller will also push "HD" cutting tips which they claim are new and improved technology. The cutting tips being sold in these cases are not of the same coating or geometry as genuine Pro-Cut bits and deliver inferior surface finishes.

Pro-Cut has been receiving calls from upset customers asking why there has been no follow up by a representative to service their lathe. Pro-Cut does not make telemarketing calls to sell bits and is not affiliated in any way with companies who do.

If you are uncertain about the validity of a Pro-Cut Representative please refer to our website-"Find a Pro-Cut Rep"

<http://www.procutusa.com/ProcutRepSearch.aspx> or contact the Pro-Cut International Service Department at 1-800-543-6618, prompt #2.

Pro-Cut is not disputing any form of legitimate competition but will not tolerate false representation of our company, services or products.
